Report of the 2nd One-Day Workshop Organized by Department of Hindi, St. Joseph's College
(Autonomous) Tiruchirappalli

Topic – "HINDI AS AN INTERNATIONAL LANGUAGE"

On 23.03.2021 the second workshop organized by the Hindi Department in the online mode. Prof. Pranatharthiharan was the chief guest and the speaker of the day. The title, "Hindi as an International Language" itself gave a goose pimple for all the students to be desirous and provoked eagerness within the heart. Prof. Pranatharthiharan was an Intellectual and deems it that he was the Master of Hindi. Prof. Pranatharthiharan very patiently spoke on the ancient time's story. He narrated how Hindi was learnt and how people accepted it. He emphasized the importance of Hindi Language. Apparently, he led us to the Mughal era and made us aware that even ancient kings kept the Hindi language as their means to communicate. One of the factors to be proud as Indians that Hindi has been spread over 43 countries. Thus, he introduced the great poets and writers like Kabir Das and Tulsi Das. Adding their stories, he painted the picture of Hindi as a Historical and International Language.

To add extra color on the workshop, he gave the examples of APJ Abdul Kalam, Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru whose mother tongues were not Hindi but they assimilated Hindi as their own dear mothers. They inculcated an effective way to share their ideas in Hindi to the whole world. Hindi is an "Important Language" he stated further and invited everybody to speak good and effective Hindi. He was taken aback to see the students taking part in the workshop with great zeal and zest. Absolutely, Prof. Pranatharthiharan was inspired to share his knowledge by seeing the active participants. After the conclusion of workshop E-certificate generated to the participants.

Report

On 27th of March, 2021 the Department of Hindi, St. Joseph's College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli organised a National Webinar on the topic: "The Reflection of Women's Conflict in Hindi Poetry during 21st Century". The webinar focused on women's expressions in Hindi poetry, especially by way of evocating the conflicts and contradictions of being female in a society which is entirely patriarchal. The resource person of the webinar was Dr. Sreelatha P. V., a renowned academician and writer, having sound and in-depth knowledge in the theme of the webinar.

The webinar was conducted virtually through Google Meet platform from 5.00 pm to 6.30 pm and it was open to the students, research scholars, academia and public. The webinar was a huge success in terms of participation as approximately 250 people were in attendance even though it was delivered virtually. Dr. Sreelatha P. V., during her address of the webinar mentioned several female writers in Hindi poetry who revolutionised the portrayal of women. During her speech, she exemplified the poems of Savita Singh. The speaker opined that the poet is always keen in her poems to depict how a woman is always the second sex in the society by way of being a mother, sister, daughter, wife and all the other roles that she plays all the time and never a woman, never an individual. A woman is always understood with respect to the man. She is always treated as incomplete unless associated with the other individuals making her always and forever the second sex.

The speaker also made brilliant comments on the poems of poets such as Pratibha Katiyar, who portrayed women as against the classic stereotyping that is ever so prevalent. In her words, modern poems in Hindi depicting women have a subtle satirical tone, criticising the stereotypes society creates, the labels that women become under gaze of the neighbourhood aunties and uncles, and the ever present samaj (society) which constantly tells how to be a 'good' woman and what is acceptable.

During the webinar, attendees shared opinions, thoughts and posed questions regarding the theme with the resource person after the lecture of the resource person. During the webinar, those participated had the opportunity to discuss all their queries and opinions with resource person and with the other participants of the webinar since the audience included eminent academicians, writers and researchers in Hindi language and literature.

National Webinar on "Transgender Discourses"
Report

On Monday, 29th of March, 2021 the Department of Hindi, St. Joseph's College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli organised a National Webinar on the topic: "Transgender Discourses". The webinar was intended to examine transgender discourses in modern Hindi literature, the underlying circumstances, the nature of these discourses and the new realms discovered through these discourses on gender and identity. The resource person of the webinar was Dr. Rakhi Balagopal., Assistant Professor in the Department of Hindi, Government College, Perinthalmanna Kerala. She had published several research papers and had presented as well as chaired several national and international seminars and conferences. She is a renowned academician and writer, well versed in Hindi language and Literature.

The webinar was conducted virtually through Google Meet platform from 6.00 pm to 7.00 pm and it was open to the students, research scholars, academia and public. The webinar was a huge success in terms of participation as approximately 190 people were in attendance even though it was delivered virtually. Dr. Rakhi Balagopal., during her address of the webinar opined that, from the linguistic perspective, interest towards the topic of transgender and gender non-conforming identities in Hindi literature has been drawn only recently, despite the relevance language use has on the general understanding of these identity expressions.

The speaker noted that the study of language in reference to gender identities can be traced back to the beginning of the twentieth century. At that time, research in this area consisted mainly of looking at the differences between the way men and women spoke and behaved when communicating. Nowadays, research has moved from thinking about gender with a binary perspective (male vs. female). She also stated that Indian culture has a historically marked tolerance as regards androgynous appearance. In this view, she exemplified the writer Devdutt Pattanaik, for example, using examples of mythical characters such as Shikhandi to argue that Hinduism was tolerant of, and even celebrated, the use of the modern term, "queerness". However, this tolerance is not displayed towards hijras, defined as female-identified persons assigned male at birth.

During the webinar, attendees shared opinions, thoughts and posed questions regarding the theme with the resource person after the lecture of the resource person. During the webinar, those participated had the opportunity to discuss all their queries and opinions with resource person and with the other participants of the webinar since the audience included eminent academicians, writers and researchers in Hindi language and literature.

Dr. Sreedevi S., Head of the Department of Hindi lead the whole department and students in organising the webinar with the whole hearted help she received from the management and staff of St. Joseph's College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli. The programme officially came to its conclusion soon after the expression of vote of thanks at 10.00 am in the evening.

National Webinar on "Environmental Discourses in Contemporary Hindi Poetry"
Report

On Tuesday, 30th of March, 2021 the Department of Hindi, St. Joseph's College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli organised a National Webinar on the topic: "Environmental Discourses in Contemporary Hindi Poetry". The resource person of the webinar was Dr. M. Kala, Assistant Professor and Head of the Department of Hindi, Mar Ivanios College, Trivandrum Kerala. She had published several research papers and had presented as well as chaired several national and international seminars and conferences. She is a renowned academician and writer, well versed in Hindi language and Literature. The webinar was intended to rethink literary critical approaches to the "environment" in Hindi literature as a frame for narrative worlds as well as aesthetic senses of nature. The webinar was conducted virtually through Google Meet platform from 5.30 pm to 7.00 pm and it was open to the students, research scholars, academia and public. The webinar was a huge success in terms of participation as approximately 220 persons were in attendance even though it was delivered virtually. Dr. M. Kala, during her address of the webinar opined that, beginning with the era of decolonization, following Indian independence, the project inscribes environmental and material histories as an important, though neglected, constituent of the study of modern Hindi literature. She revisited critical debates on realism and the Hindi poetry; modernism in the context of the Hindi poetry and the poetics of nature in Hindi eco-poetry and shows how an attention to the environment might enrich questions of literary representation and form. She argued that, with more contemporary senses of environmental crises while emphasizing the underlying tensions between an aesthetic of nature in Hindi eco-poetry and the hybrid natures that have emerged in the wake of globalization. The speaker also noted that themes and arguments concerning the relationships between India's population and the complex meanings and materialities of the environment with reference to literary treatments in the Hindi poetry, drawing also on environmental, social-cultural and political literature. In her words, examples from Hindi poetry (e.g. The killing of a tree by Kunvar Narayan), can be drawn, which deals with civic indifference and the public sphere; environmental activism and ecological thinking; and environmental metaphors of creative writing. During the webinar, attendees shared opinions, thoughts and posed questions regarding the theme with the resource person after the lecture of the resource person. During the webinar, those participated had the opportunity to discuss all their queries and opinions with resource person and with the other participants of the webinar since the audience included eminent academicians, writers and researchers in Hindi language and literature.

Dr. Sreedevi S., Head of the Department of Hindi lead the whole department and students in organising the webinar with the whole hearted help she received from the management and staff of St. Joseph's College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli. The programme officially came to its conclusion soon after the expression of vote of thanks at 10.00 am in the evening.
